

Teach Me About The Temple

Words and Music by Lynne Perry Christofferson

Night and Sunset photos of the Rexburg Temple used by permission, Copyright © Rick G. Wallace.

Photo: Children in Field at Rexburg Temple, by Sabrina Birch Graves, used by permission.

Photo: Hands on Temple Door by Bridgette Patterson, used by permission.

All other pictures from publications of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints.

I see the light of
the temple at night.

As it
shines

it

reminds me

I must prepare
if I hope
to go
there,

But I
need
someone
to guide
me.

Please
teach me
about the temple.

Please
show me
how to prepare.

Then

all of my life

I will try

To be worthy
to enter
there.

Please
teach me
about
the Temple.

I want
to know
so that someday
I may go.

I see the
light of
the temple at
night,

And its
glow
is a symbol

Helping
me think
of the safety
and
peace

That
come from the holy
temple.

Please
teach me
about the
temple.

Please
show me
how to prepare.

Then

all of

my life

I will try

To be
worthy
to enter
there.

Please
teach me
about
the Temple.

I want
to know
so that
someday
I may
go.